

This is a historical map of the Eastern Mediterranean and Persian Gulf region, likely from an 18th-century travelogue or atlas. The map is oriented with North at the top. It shows a wide range of geographical features, including mountains, rivers, and coastal areas. The map is divided into several administrative or regional divisions, each labeled with a name in capital letters. Major cities and towns are marked with dots and labeled. The map is framed by a grid with coordinates 76, 81, 86, 91, 96, 101, 106, 111 along the top and bottom, and 32, 37, 42, 47, 52 along the left and right sides. The map is titled 'Moxia' at the top center. Other prominent labels include 'Gazaria', 'Tartaria', 'Mengrelia', 'Zaga', 'Tay', 'Corazani', 'Persia', 'Arabia Deserta', and 'Carmania Deserta'. The map also shows the Euphrates and Tigris rivers, the Persian Gulf (Mar Persio), and the Black Sea (Mar di Bachav). The map is a detailed representation of the region's geography and administrative structure at the time it was created.
